

California Wildlife Center

December 30, 2022

Everyone here at California Wildlife Center would like to wish you a safe, healthy, and happy new year!

We'd like to thank every person who reached out to us for advice about wildlife, each finder who took time out of their day to transport an animal in need to our facility, and every volunteer and intern who helped us care for injured, orphaned, and sick wild animals in 2022.

We'd like to give a special Thank You to everyone who donated to CWC, enabling us to continue our life-saving work. Your support throughout 2022 has given thousands of wild animals a second chance at tomorrow.
